

Head of The Table with David Thomas, HSBC

Supported by Future Leaders Committee

Head of the Table is a forum where a small group of young professionals from the Chamber get the chance to meet and question some of Hong Kong's leaders from a variety of fields over dinner. Previous events were hosted by many of Hong Kong's leading lights, including Rupert Hogg of Cathay Pacific, Mark Greenberg of Jardine Matheson, Chris Harvey of Accenture, Jeremy Sheldon of JLL, Stuart Tait from HSBC Group and Dr. Anne Kerr from Mott MacDonald.

Head of the Table gives young professionals the opportunity to interact with senior business leaders of companies or organisations outside their own, and at the same time mix with other like-minded emerging leaders.

The next Head of the Table will be hosted by David Thomas, General Manager of HSBC Group and the Head of Human Resources, Asia-Pacific.

Head of The Table

David Thomas is a General Manager of HSBC Group and the Head of Human Resources, Asia-Pacific. Since joining HSBC in May 2019, he has led the HR function through a period of unprecedented change, increasing colleague engagement, implementing new ways of working, and accelerating talent development in the bank's core region of growth.

Prior to joining to HSBC, he worked in a variety of global, regional and country level positions at other global financial institutions. Starting his career as a steelworker in his native Wales, he has enjoyed working and living in multiple geographies across the world.

David is a Member of Joint Management Board of British Consulate in Hong Kong and has previously served on boards in the Insurance and Asset Management industry.

He has a Bachelor of Management Science Degree from Aston University, Birmingham, UK, and a postgraduate diploma in Human Resources Management from the University of Wales, Cardiff, UK. He has also attended executive development programmes at Harvard Business School, University of Oxford, Cranfield School of Management, and IMD Business School. David is a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Personnel and Development, and a member of the Australian Institute of Directors.
