multiple fronts. With these factors shifting the markets, how should investors respond?

During this webinar, Angelina Lai, Asia Chief Investment Officer and Martin W. Angelina and Martin will also address the following questions:

- Are inflationary pressures here to stay, if not intensify, or prove transitory in the end? What are the main factors at play, and how should investors be positioned?
- What is the outlook for interest rates in Europe, the US and China?
- How does geo-political risk affect markets and investment decisions?
- What actions to take and which pitfalls to avoid during volatile markets?
